This family operation takes a lot of pride on raising elite Angus genetics and we welcome you to their 22nd Annual Bull & Female Sale. The Brandl's are a tight knit family that work alongside each other to raise and produce the very best cattle possible with their customers first and foremost in mind. They truly put all their blood, sweat and tears into the Angus breed and exhaust every effort to work together to bring forth a set of cattle that is deep in options.

The 2024 set of bulls and select females are truly deep in quality while representing the maternal strength of their program and ability to produce top seedstock. The black bulls are highlighted with feature bulls that created quite a stir at FarmFair winning their divisions and they are outcross pedigreed while being backed by some of the most beautiful cows located in Jarvie, AB. These two bulls are some of the best produced at BCC with the entire pen of bulls behind them just as interesting and strong in their type. Many options in the black group as always with the red group being slightly smaller in quantity and not giving up anything on quality. Many strong calving ease options throughout the red pen that will work ideally in the heifer pen with ease. A strong set of power red bulls on offer that will give you extra weight at weaning while still injecting the maternal strength of the Angus cow into your program. Once again, a select group of heifers are on offer and this maternally driven cowherd backs these heifers and you can invest in confidence that you are getting the top lineage and cow families from BCC.

We encourage you to come see this set of bulls and select heifers as it is the deepest and strongest that the Brandl family has ever offered. If you can't make it sale day and want to stop in prior, we suggest reaching out to them as they'd be excited to show you this set of bulls and the strong production cows behind them. Also, our BMS Team will be on hand sale day and would be honoured to represent your buying needs in a professional and confidential manner. See you in Jarvie for their 22nd annual sale that is full of impressive cattle and great hospitality from this passionate livestock family.

Welcome

Welcome to the 22nd annual Brandl Cattle Co. Bull & Select Female Sale! As we enter our 48th year of raising Angus cattle we are so thankful to all of you who have continued to support us throughout the years. Each year an incredibly high percentage of our cattle sell to repeat customers and as such it is so important that we continue to improve our genetics and supply new genetics to advance the quality in our customers' herds. This year you will find some new sire groups that have definitely raised the standards higher than we ever have. This may be the most even and consistent group of bulls we've raised.

We believe in our cattle working for us and not the other way around. We have often said that our Angus cows make us bad cattlemen. We simply don't have the patience or desire to deal with problem cattle and now days it seems so many people like to air their dirty laundry on social media. We just shake our heads. If we had to babysit our cattle all the time we would find another means of employment. Life has a way of throwing curve balls and no matter the season our cattle have to be able to do everything all on their own. It's a tremendous time to be in the cattle industry. There will always be challenges but it's sure nice to be compensated at a greater level than we have ever seen. When you spend some time at the auction marts it's never been more evident of the spread between top quality and second cut cattle. Big, stout growthy calves are putting big dollars in peoples pockets. Our bulls are fed to do their job and last for years. Sure we could have them heavier but we don't want to. We feed for an average daily gain of 3 lbs per day. We feel that gives our customers a yearling bull that is grown out enough to express their potential but will not melt away in breeding season and will have the structural integrity to last for years. We are proud of the number of 8-10 year old BCC bulls that are constantly working around the country.

Please accept this as your personal invitation to be here March 9 to evaluate our program. Plan on sticking around following the sale for a BBQ steak dinner as well as an evening of socializing and entertainment. We look forward to seeing you sale day but if for whatever reason you cannot make it the sale will be broadcast live on DLMS, or call ourselves or any of our professional sales staff to assist you with your purchase.

More and more we believe in EPD's less and less

From the early stages, being a cattleman all my life, I have believed in a practical approach to the cow business. Performance testing and recording data is essential to genetic progress. When EPDs (Expected Progeny Differences) gained popularity it was an intriguing concept. We input data from various stages of production and based on the genetic background of that animal a computer can predict what is expected in the resulting offspring. What most don't realize is that on young cattle there is also an accuracy score attached to that information. Commonly, yearling cattle EPDs will have an accuracy of 10-15%. As the animal matures and data from offspring enters the system the accuracy will increase. The EPDs that customers see on yearlings have an accuracy of 10-15%. That also means they have an inaccuracy of 85-90%. The second issue and perhaps the greatest issue is the fact that Mother Nature and a computer often do not agree with each other. Thirdly, the staff that are often involved in designing the concepts are not cattlemen themselves.

We have cow families that had their foundation in our herd close to 50 years ago. In that time as a cattleman I have a total knowledge of any tendencies, trends and abilities of those cattle. An example of a discrepancy in the system is a cow family that has gone multiple generations and propagated thousands of cattle and in 42 years have all calved 100% unassisted, yet the calving ease EPDs have them ranked in the bottom 1% of the breed. When I questioned staff in the Canadian Angus office I was told "If along the way I had a couple cows from that cow family that required C sections it would actually make the others in that family have better data". To me this statement is totally wrong.

I can give you examples of mature cows that have had 9-10 calves at an average birth weight of 80 -85 pounds and they are ranked in the bottom 5% of the breed for both birth weight and calving ease. I can also give you examples of cows with an average 205 day weight of 770 pounds on 10 calves and daughters that wean calves from 760 - 860 pounds yet are ranked in the bottom 5% of the breed for milk.

One of the newest numbers available is hoof EPDs. Five years ago I had a discussion with one of Canadas largest Angus breeders who was quite excited about this new way of scoring feet. I told him then that I had a 10 year old son that knew the difference between good feet and bad and anyone who needed a computer to tell them whether to keep a cow or not should exit the industry.

In short, we will continue to look at EPDs as a tool, but that tool must be used with caution. I believe what I see, half of what I read, and none of what I hear. We are breeding generations of profitable, trouble free cattle and we are also breeding generations of knowledgeable cattlemen who will work hand in hand with Mother Nature to provide our customers with the best product possible. If you want to know about cattle that have calving ease, milk, or structural integrity just ask Kailey, Wynton or Landon.
